You've Got Your Client's Attention...

Do you have a risk that doesn't fit nicely in a standard market? As an agent or broker you've worked with your client to identify all their risk management and insurable exposures for protection, P&C, L&A, Benefits, Bonds, Health, etc... Now you need to work with your industry partners to rate, process and service that client. Will it be written in standard, non-standard or a combination of markets?

Efficiency begins when the agency enters the data they receive from the client into a system. That system should follow best practices workflows and allow for data integration with your partners throughout the pipeline of protecting the client's assets.
